The IAF is the world's only truly global federation for apparel brands and retailers, manufacturers, their associations, and the supporting industry. In addition to global brands and retailers, IAF's membership includes apparel associations from more than 60 countries from all continents representing over 150,000 companies who provide products and services to the apparel industry – a membership that represents over 20 million employees.

Its unique global network and position gives the IAF access to valuable information for globally operating apparel brands and retailers.

This makes IAF the best global information hub for any fashion company engaged in cross continental sales.

We offer:

1. Exact information on labeling, product legislation, trade policy, environmental legislation, CSR, in all parts of the world, with a specialization on the complex European legislation.
2. Information on standards and developing standards in the area of CSR and Sustainability such as inspection standards, working condition standards and environmental standards.
3. Market information. Members have access to additional industry statistics, next to the information we offer on our website.
4. Acces to producers via 'members help members'. IAF's industry association members from over 60 countries represent thousands of excellent factories. They can help prepare sourcing trips.
5. Worldwide network of specialized suppliers to the industry, ranging from sizing advice to digital retail distribution specialists.
6. Privileged access to IFFTI, the global network of the best fashion technology and fashion management institutes in the world.
7. Access to global networks for your specialists to join (such as sizing, trade policy, CSR, trade data, and education).

The services are provided by a mix of standard information flows via newsletter and the website and a personalized service

Becoming a member of the IAF also means supporting its principles which are:

- Cooperation between buyers and suppliers. IAF membership reflects this.
- A more knowledge intensive industry
- A truly global approach to global responsibility
- Harmonization of legislation helping the industry to cut unnecessary costs
